One night we all went to sleep and when we woke up prices had gone up twice in the first half of 2008, fuel was approaching $5.00 p/g, every freight company had tripled their fuel surcharge, & the housing market, not to mention the economy in general, was in the toilet.

AND YOU? Well, smart vendors have got to realize that they just can't make the margins they are used to. Prices have to be adjusted downward so we all have a reason to go to work everyday.
